Geography

- Many natural resources, such as oil, precious metals, minerals however farmland and water is scarce.
- Landlocked.
- Bordered by countries with the same religion.
- Several less friendly countries are further away, you are vulnerable to attack by air or land.

Wealth

- Everyone has access to housing, education and healthcare.
- Large and wealthy economy which is mostly built around exports of natural resources.
- Do not have to borrow money but choose not to lend money to other countries either.
- Choose not to take part in most global organisations.
- Strong Economy.

Political Climate

- Press have no freedom and must report what they are told by the Religious Leader – if they report anything negative about the Leader they risk imprisonment or even death.
- People cannot have their own political, religious and cultural views – they must only follow the official religion of the country, if they don't, they may be imprisoned, tortured or killed.
- No close allies, but if a country who follows the same religion as you are threatened you sometimes choose to offer support.

Religion

- All citizens must follow the official religion of the country.

History

- Will not get involved in any wars with other countries and there has only ever been one civil war in your country, when the Religious Leaders took charge.
- People are used to violence from the military and police, but not from bombing or harsh conditions.
- Extremely advanced military and weapons.
- Willing to use all of your military strength to make sure that your people are safe, and your religion is protected.

Thinking Questions

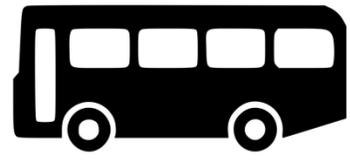

What are the three most crucial factors when deciding how to respond to a terrorist incident?

What makes a crucial factor? Use examples to back up your thinking

Which are the least crucial factors? Why?

Do any factors limit how you might respond? Why?

Situation Report

10 different bomb blasts on the train system	Aeroplane hijacked and crashed into a complex of office blocks	Bus driven into a government office block and 20 shooters emerged who entered the building shooting anyone they saw

Intelligence Service Report

- Known terrorist group has claimed responsibility
- They do not like our religious/political views on culture
- They wish to scare us and other countries who value the same things as us
- We have identified the likely location of the terrorist group's leadership
- We have identified the country which is sheltering and supporting the terrorist group's leadership

Military Response: Bomb the terrorist training camps and leadership camp.
Pro:- Probably kill potential terrorists and stop future terrorists from being trained.
Con:- You may kill innocent civilians, such as children. The information you have about locations may be incorrect.

Military Response:- Overthrow governments that are sympathetic to the terrorists' cause by sending in your troops.
Pro:- It will also show the terrorists that you are prepared to act. Terrorists rely on safe havens to train and plan attacks.
Con:- You could start a long, costly war and simply drive the terrorists to hide in another country.

Inward Focus:- Withdraw your military presence from other countries. Focus only on issues in your own country and don't get involved in any issues abroad.
Pro:- If your country keeps a low profile, it is harder to be seen as an enemy.
Con:- Without your support, poorer countries might find their economy and political system weaken. Terrorists may take charge.

Outreach: Make contact and discuss with terrorists. Find out what the terrorists want.
Pro:- If you can understand the terrorists' demand, you may be able to prevent future attacks.
Con:- They are probably untrustworthy.

Outreach:- Focus on developing better relations with different communities in your own country and elsewhere.
Pro:- If people learn more about each other, there is less fear and mistrust. If you can understand the terrorists' demand, you may be able to prevent future attacks.
Con:- Many people in your country are angry and want actual action against the terrorists.

Tighten Security:- Pass laws to give the police and government more powers to pursue terrorists. For example, extend the powers of the police and security services to arrest terror suspects and detain them for longer.
Pro:- Rounding up potential terror suspects and interviewing/interrogating them might not only stop some terrorists; it might also lead to vital information that could help capture other terrorists elsewhere.
Con:- You may arrest and question lots of innocent citizens who have done nothing wrong.

Response 5) Intelligence Networks Infiltrate terrorist groups abroad, gather intelligence and seek to undermine their capability from within.
Pro:- By infiltrating networks, you can find out about any potential attacks that might happen.
Con:- This takes a long time and lots of money/resources.
